We strive to improve our surroundings through the power of design.

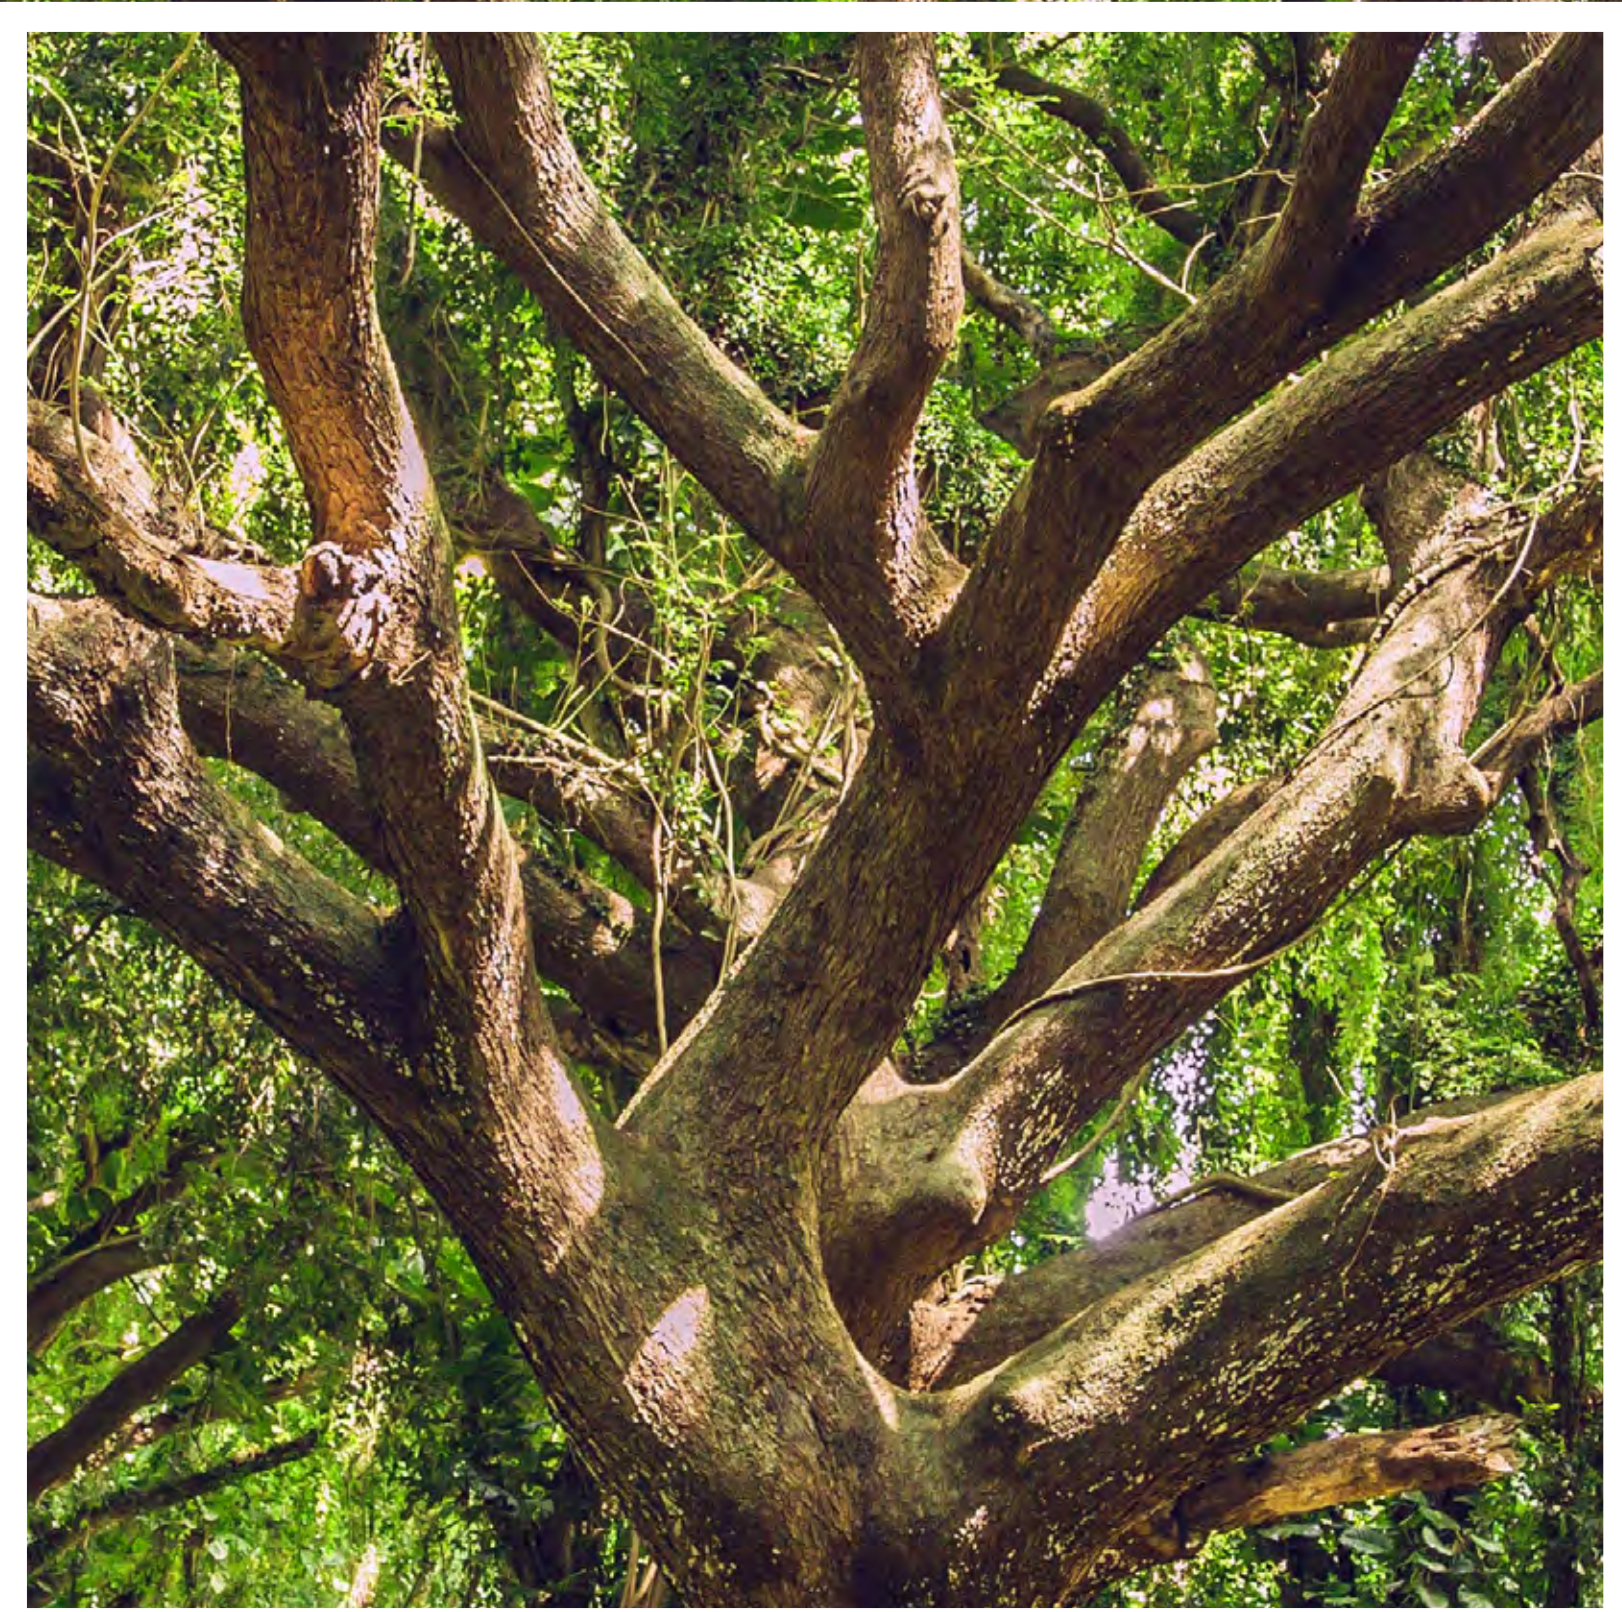

Sustainability is like a colour palette that inspires each of our projects. Every collection has a colour, every colour has a meaning and even the smallest, most insignificant nuance can make the difference.

Sustainability is an integral part of our design process.

We believe in intelligent, authentic and bespoke design which evolves, over the decades, from one generation to the next. We strive to deliver only the best solutions and constantly improve our products, enhancing their aesthetic appeal and sourcing new and better materials.

DURABLE

Our products are designed to be timeless and long-lasting. A look will not stand the test of time unless the design is of the highest quality, the production methods outstanding and the materials first-class. Montbel products are designed to be easily reused and recycled to ensure they stay on the market for as long as possible.

RECYCLABLE

The materials used in our production process can be easily recycled and reused, keeping waste to an absolute minimum. Our solid wood waste is used to produce pellets. Leftover fabric is recycled to produce other materials. Our textiles are eco-friendly: we choose suppliers who repurpose existing resources like plastic to obtain top-quality ecological fibres.

SUSTAINABLE MATERIALS

The first thing we do when we design a new product is choose the raw material we are going to make it out of. This is the first stage in a process driven by knowledge, passion and respect for nature. The wood we use comes from controlled deforestation and all our seats are crafted without processing the chrome elements, which means we avoid using chemical baths which are extremely harmful to the environment. Upon request, we can use eco-friendly paints obtained by refining plant-based waste products.

RENEWABLE ENERGY

Montbel uses cutting-edge construction technology to optimise energy efficiency in its buildings and has also installed LED lighting and photovoltaic panels.

MODULAR

Our modular approach to building furniture keeps things simple during production and makes it easier to dismantle and recycle the individual parts. Some of our chairs can easily be taken apart so they can be disposed of responsibly or their lifespan further extended.

WASTE MINIMISATION

We monitor raw material procurement and supply chain organisation and consider the end of our products' life cycle in the development and production stages, so what we create will last for generations. Less paper, more environmental awareness is one of our mantras: where possible, we have replaced paper with smarter, more sustainable solutions such as digital catalogues and price lists, our web app and plastic-free office equipment.

EFFICIENCY

Our creations are functional, design-driven and comfortable and stand up to stringent testing to meet the needs of our clients in the contract and residential sector. Every stage in the production process complies with the highest quality standards and respects the world we live in and we strive to minimise the impact of each product throughout its life cycle. At Montbel we like to keep things simple and production efficient. So we adopt solutions which optimise the work and time of our staff, like the purchase of a new industry 4.0 cutting machine.

TRACEABILITY

Montbel has drawn up ecological standards for its products to ensure they not only meet the high standards the company sets itself but also global certification criteria, guaranteeing maximum traceability of its collections.

- In 2012 we obtained Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) international certification, important acknowledgement of our commitment to procuring wood from environmentally friendly, socially beneficial and economically sustainable forests and supply chains;
- In 2014 we were awarded 100% Made in Italy certification for manufacturers.
- Since 2019 we purchase only materials with TSCA and CARB certification to ensure limited emissions of formaldehyde from our wood products destined for the US market.

SUSTAINABLE SUPPLY CHAIN

The company's highly quality standards can only be achieved through close partnerships with suppliers so, from day one, we build a relationship of trust with them, seeking out local suppliers, where possible, who adopt sustainable working practices. Our seats are sold around the globe; we try to use resources as efficiently as possible and ensure the materials we use meet our clients' environmental standards.

CORPORATE WELFARE

At Montbel, every individual is important to us. We believe that our strength as a company lies in our teamwork. We attribute great importance to the working environment and conditions because we believe they positively influence a person's creativity and make them more productive. Our aim is to guarantee healthy, rational conditions for all our workers. We are very proud of our low employee turnover and encourage an atmosphere where initiative, love for your work and dedication are acknowledged.

Montbel teams up with Ai.Bi. for children's rights.

We have been staunch supporters of the association 'Ai.Bi. Amici dei Bambini' since 2016, donating our chairs which are signed by celebrities attending the Venice Film Festival. The chairs are auctioned off during the Il Bello che fa bene gala dinner organised by Ai.Bi.: the proceeds go to Ai.Bi. which, for over thirty years, works alongside children who have been abandoned or are in desperate family situations to guarantee them the right to be children. We are proud to be part of this cause and every year it is a source of indescribable emotion.
